

Something that I like about technology is how fast we are able to consume information. The ability to learn is more easier and more accessible through the technology we use today. Smartphones and tablets are tools that everyone can use and their usage can greatly alter one's knowledge base on subjects that otherwise wouldn't be discovered.